The Day's Business Represented Nothing More Than Testing Operations.

STATEMENT UNFAVORABLE

Amalgamated Copper Strong On Rumors Connected With Coming Meeting.

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 8.—To-day's small business in stocks represented nothing more than teating operations by professional traders. Some special attention was devoted to Reading on professed confidence in a coming increase in the dividend on Central Railroad of New Jersey, and the Central of New Jersey. Jersey and the Central of New Jersey stock was marked up over 7 points in consequence. The demand for Amalgamated Copper was associated with the coming annual meeting on Monday and the circulations of the rumors that some sort of financial statement was to be issued by the corporation at that meetissued by the corporation at that meeting. The beard room traders attracted little following in their ventures and prices sold off again when intimations got abroad of the unfavorable character of the coming banks statement. The 1810,000,000 shrinkage in the cash held was far in excess of preliminary estimates hased on the known movements of money. The large decrease was attributed to withdrawals by the trust companies in connection with some important syndicate subscriptions, which had been called in this week. Amalgamated Copper rose to the top after the publication of the bank statement had spent its effect, but the closing generally was irregular and little changed from last inight. The total sales of bonds, par value, amounted to $1.05.000. The total sales of stocks amounted to $2.000 shares.

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS. Norfolk Peanut Market.

Norfolk Peanut Market.

Norfolk Peanut Market.

Norfolk VA., June 2.—The feature of the peanut market here this week was the higher prices for two graces of peanuts. One of the factories bought 50 bags of Spanish peanuts. The peanuts was exclusive of the cost of bringing them here. Hence, if that is a fair criterion, the Spanish grade of nuts is worth more than 1.65 here. But that is beyond the regular quotation of $1.02\daggle06 a bushel, which has been current here; and, it must admitter, too, that this lot was purchased because the nuts were needed right away to fill and order. It must be remembered, also, that this is not a market for Spanish peanuts. Those facts may have affected the price in that case. The other feature of the market is that buch peanuts have advanced to $4\frac{1}{2}\daggle06$, a pound. One of the large buyers qualified that quotation by saying "that price is for real bunch nuts, not for inferior nuts, which a seller may wish to class as bunch nuts." There were small receipts free this week. All of the peanuts which arrived were sold, but still the market in farmers stock is dull because of the small receipts. The cleaners have been selling freely this week, but their trade has not been as brisk as they would like to have it. One of the best informed men from the country declared that there would be "a big acreage of the best informed men from the country declared that there would be "a big acreage of the best informed men from the country declared that there would be a bigsest ever known because of the low price of peanuts for this season—the bigsest ever known because of the prospects the farmers had given the preference to peanuts this seprice. A Sorrowful Necessity.

A Sorrowful Necessity.

At a recent meeting of the Co-operative Workers of Richmond (Summer Rest Association), it was decided that guests of the Summer Rest must hereafter pay 31.50 a week for board instead of $2.00 as heretofore. The management has taken this action with great reluctance after two years' consideration. They are driven to it by the serious decrease in the sustenation fund contributed by friends of the Rest, and by the great advance in the cost of living. They realize that the wages of working women have not increased with this advance, and they are sad over the necessity which may make a summer outing impossible for some of them. But it is deemed kinder to open the Summer Rest to those who can pay the 50 cents a week additional, than to close it entirely. The office will be located at the W. C. A. Home, No. Iti East Franklin Street, and will be open every Tuesday and Friday, 5:30 to 7 P. M., beginning June 20th. Applicants may engage board as far ahead as desired, but can only obtain their coupons and rullroad orders one week before starting for the Itest.
